

Dispatch Photo by Bob Kris

Walter F. Robinson with his reproductions of old maps.

Aerial photograph shows Platty Kill Creek, the hockey stick-shaped body of water in the Constable Hook area, that many Bayonne residents have never heard of. The Creek was named by the Dutch in the 17th Century. At lower left are the Atlas Yacht Club and wrecks of old time sailing ships.